

And a smile that is sweet will surely find
 A smile that is just as sweet.
 Give sorrow and pity to those who mourn;
 You will gather in flowers again,
 The scattered seeds of your thought outborn,
 Though the sowing seemed but vain.
 For life is the mirror of king and slave--
 'Tis just what we are and do;
 Then give the world the best you have
 And the best will come back to you.
 (Madeline Bridges)

Born in Edmonton, he married his beloved June 33 years ago. They had a beautiful life together, very much in love, seldom apart.
 Frank Weinstein was very family conscious. He was proud of his family. Each of his children, Sam and Pat, Renee and Shelley and his five grandchildren, each one in their own way was a source of great joy and comfort to him.
 His brother Pinky and his family,
 all his nieces, nephews and cousins
 --all were a very important part of his life. His friends were to Bereaved family & friends:

 We are assembled to bid farewell to a man whom we all knew, who was a truly a unique individual.
 All of you who are here could each add a word to those that I have brought together - for his life touched so many in his own way.
 The poet beautifully sums up life as it should be lived and as Frank Weinstein lived it:
 There are loyal hearts, there are
 spirits brave, There are souls that are pure and true;
 Then give to the world the best
 you have,
 And the best will come back to you.
 Give love, and love to your life
 will flow,
 A strength in your utmost need;
 Have faith, and a score of hearts
 will show
 Their faith in your word and deed.
 Give truth, and your gift will be paid in kind,
 And honor will honor meet;

-3- Frank Weinstein him like family; he was a good friend to his friends.
In her lifetime, he gave his mother-in-law 18 years of devoted attention he had a deep respect and love for the elderly and did much volunteer work among senior citizens.
Charitable with himself and his time, he gave so much of himself to others -- he had so much more to give.

Possessed of a great outlook on life, he was orphaned young; started out with nothing; was a self-made man. He had a persistence in pursuing and finishing works. He authored accepted teaching text books in Podiatry. Modest, he did many things for others in his own quiet way. Free of all prejudices, he was concerned with the advancement of people and their education, particularly the disadvantaged. He had a feeling for Jewish tradition. He loved his syngogue and yiddishkeit.

Frank was courageous in his illness; he would not complain; he appreciated everything that he had. These last four years were a gift of life
